WOLLONGONG

---

Wollongong is a bustling and vibrant centre of activity with a distinctly multicultural atmosphere located on a spectacular stretch of the southern NSW coast, just 80 kilometres south of Sydney.

Strikingly tucked between the mountains and the sea, Wollongong's stunning natural environment includes some of the most pristine beaches in NSW and the Illawarra escarpment offers a great network of walking trails and dazzling views of the coastline.

Wollongong is the third largest city in NSW and is largely known for its history of farming, coal mining and steel making, however the city has grown and diversified and is rapidly emerging as a city looking towards education, information technology and telecommunications, manufacturing and tourism as the industries of the future.

Wollongong has had increased growth in the real estate market, with much of this growth a direct result of Sydneysiders choosing to relocate to the region, particularly the northern suburbs. Their primary motivation being their inability to afford housing in the Sydney region combined with Wollongong's convenient proximity to Sydney.

In comparison to the 2011 census, the population of Wollongong has increased by 5.72% to 293,951. Half the population in the Wollongong commercial radio licence area is aged over 40 years. The birthplace for 78% of the population was Oceania including Australian, New Zealander, Indigenous and Islander persons.

Of the 65,362 people attending an educational institution, 37% were either in infants or primary school; 29% were in secondary school; 9% at TAFE and 25% at University or another tertiary institution. Of the 121,736 people who already have a tertiary qualification, 36% have a degree and 64% have a certificate, diploma or another tertiary qualification.

Wollongong is a family oriented city, reflected in the large number of families with children (45% of total families) and single parents (17%). The area has a high proportion of home ownership. Of the total dwellings (105,468) in Wollongong, 36% of dwellings are owned outright and 33% are mortgaged. Private rental properties represent 21% of total dwellings.

20% of the total households (105,007) in Wollongong have a household income range between $21,000 – $41,999pa; 22% between $42,000 – $77,999pa; 11% between $78,000 – $103,999pa; and 30% over $104,000pa.

All major banks, car dealers, fast-food restaurants and an extensive selection of national retail and chain stores are represented in the city.

AGRICULTURE

The farms in the area support over 2 thousand beef cattle and 8 thousand dairy cattle.

The region produces an average quantity of fruits with apple production over 329 thousand kilograms, nectarines 24 thousand kilograms and peaches over 123 thousand kilograms.

EMPLOYMENT

Wollongong's famous manufacturing steelworks industry was established in the late 1920s and remains a major economic element of the city. The majority (55%) of the labour force of 138,076 are employed full time. The main industries of employment are:
